

IER Open Lecture

Benefits of Bilingual Policy: Welsh Language Planning and Policy in the UK

Speaker: Dr. Kathryn Jones

(Managing Director of IAITH, Welsh Centre for Language Planning)

This talk will consider the development of Welsh language policy and planning within both the wider context of other minority languages in Europe and within the specific context of devolution in Wales. Key concepts and theoretical assumptions underpinning this development will be discussed. This talk will also show how, in the context of Wales, Welsh language policy and planning has grown out of a grass-roots movement which gathered momentum in the 1960's and, in the wake of devolution, has come to be shaped by Government and non-governmental agencies.

All are welcome

Lecture in English

Tuesday, December 18th, 2018

10:00 ~ 11:20
H (Honkan) 170